What is the NCLEX® Examination?

In April 1994 nurse licensure candidates began taking the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX®) on a computer at test centers located across the United States and select international sites. The change to computerized adaptive testing (CAT) for the nurse licensure examination came about as a result of a decision made in August 1991 by the National Council of State Boards of Nursing (NCSBN). The NCLEX® examinations are only provided in a computerized adaptive testing format.

The NCLEX examination is designed to test knowledge, skills and abilities essential to the safe and effective practice of nursing at the entry level. NCLEX examination results are an important component used by boards of nursing to make decisions about licensure. Only boards of nursing can release NCLEX examination results to candidates.

The NCLEX examination is given on a computer. You are not expected to know how to use a computer before you take the examination. A tutorial will be included as part of the examination. The tutorial will instruct you on the use of the mouse and how to record an answer.

Even after the examination starts, you will be able to request assistance at any time regarding the operation of the computer. In addition to the traditional four option multiple-choice items, the tutorial will include information on how to respond to different types of item formats called alternate items.

Another computer function is the on-screen optional calculator. Again, the application of this calculator will be reviewed in the tutorial prior to the beginning of the examination.

The tutorial can be reviewed any time prior to the examination at www.pearsonvue.com/nclex.

Pearson Professional Testing provides test development and test administration services for the NCLEX examination.

Registration Process Overview

1. Submit an application for licensure to the board of nursing where you wish to be licensed.
2. Meet all of the board of nursing's eligibility requirements to take the NCLEX examination.
3. Register for the NCLEX Examination with Pearson VUE.
4. Receive Confirmation of Registration from Pearson VUE.
5. The board of nursing makes the candidate eligible to take the NCLEX.
6. Receive Authorization to Test (ATT) from Pearson VUE.

If you choose to provide an e-mail address at the time you register for the NCLEX examination (whether by mail, telephone, or via the internet), please note that all of your correspondence from Pearson VUE will arrive ONLY by e-mail. If you do not provide an e-mail address when you register, your correspondence from Pearson VUE will arrive ONLY through U.S. mail.

If more than two weeks have passed after you have submitted a registration for an NCLEX examination and received confirmation from Pearson VUE, and you have not received an ATT, please call Pearson VUE at the appropriate number listed on the inside front cover.

Examination Fee and Registration Information

Fee

The fee for taking the NCLEX® examination is $200. You may also have to pay other fees for licensure required by the board of nursing in the jurisdiction in which you are applying. You must check with your board of nursing to find out about these fees. If you choose to schedule your NCLEX examination at a test center outside of the United States,* you will have to pay an international scheduling fee of $150, and where applicable, a Value Added Tax (VAT). These fees will be charged when you schedule your examination appointment.

Registration Time Limit

All NCLEX examination registrations will remain open for a 365-day time period during which a board of nursing may determine the candidate's eligibility. The time period begins when the board of nursing receives the candidate's registration from the test service. Once a candidate is made eligible, he or she must test within the validity dates printed on the Authorization to Test (ATT).

* United States includes American Samoa, Guam, Northern Mariana Islands, and the US Virgin Islands.

If the board of nursing is unable to make you eligible within the 365-day time period, you must wait until your current registration expires before re-registering. A candidate may not have two NCLEX examination registrations (of the same exam type) open at the same time. If you re-register before your current registration expires, your second registration will be processed and denied, and the fee collected is non-refundable.

Candidates who are not made eligible by their board of nursing within the 365-day time period will forfeit their registrations, including the registration fee. Candidates who wish to take an NCLEX examination will need to re-register and re-pay the examination fee.

How to Register for the NCLEX® Examination

1. Submit an application for licensure to the board of nursing where you wish to be licensed. Be sure to meet that board of nursing's application deadline.
2. Register for the NCLEX examination using one of the following methods.

If you provide an e-mail address when registering for the NCLEX examination, all subsequent correspondence from Pearson VUE will arrive ONLY BY E-MAIL. If you do not provide an e-mail address, all your correspondence will arrive ONLY through the U.S. mail.

NOTE: NCSBN and Pearson VUE have established specific guidelines for this provision (Workforce Exception). Failure to adhere to the guidelines will result in the rejection and a significant delay of the registration.

Procedures for Requesting Special Accommodations

Testing accommodations for otherwise qualified candidates can be provided only with the authorization of your board of nursing.

- Request information from your board of nursing concerning its requirements for requesting testing accommodations. This should be done before submitting your NCLEX examination registration.
- Make a request for accommodations to your board of nursing. Your request must comply with requirements established by your board of nursing for candidates requesting testing accommodations.
- Send your request to your board of nursing as early as possible so that, if approved by the board of nursing, the special accommodations can be made in a timely manner.

Directions for Completing the NCLEX® Examination Registration Form

The registration scan form that is in the envelope enclosed with this candidate bulletin includes all of the questions that you must answer if you register via the internet, by mail or by telephone. If you submit your registration form by mail, your registration form will be read by a computer and must be completed accurately to ensure timely and efficient processing.

You will be sent a confirmation indicating that your registration was received. Incomplete forms and forms received without the correct fee will be returned.

Signature

Sign (do not print) in pencil or ink your full name and fill in the date. Before you mail your registration form and examination fee in the enclosed envelope, make sure that you have signed your form and checked it for accuracy. Be sure that the proper circles are filled in, that there are no stray marks and that your form is complete and accurate.

How to Schedule Your NCLEX® Examination Appointment

Authorization to Test (ATT)

After your board of nursing declares you eligible, you will receive your ATT.

You must have your ATT to schedule an appointment to take the NCLEX® examination and you must present your ATT at the test center on the day of your examination to be admitted to the examination. You will not be admitted to the examination without your ATT and will be required to re-register and re-pay to take the examination.

Call NCLEX Candidate Services at one of the telephone numbers listed on the inside front cover of the Candidate Bulletin to report a lost ATT or if it has been two weeks since you registered and have not received your ATT.

The ATT contains your test authorization number, candidate identification number, and an expiration date. Each ATT is valid for a period of time specified by the state board of nursing (varies from 60 days to 365 days; however, the average is 90 days). Once the board of nursing declares you eligible to test and your ATT is issued, you must test within the validity dates of your ATT. These validity dates cannot be extended for any reason. If you do not test within these dates you will have to re-register and pay again.

Scheduling Your NCLEX® Examination Appointment

When scheduling your examination appointment, you should plan for a testing session that may last a maximum of six hours if you are taking the NCLEX-RN® examination, or five hours for the NCLEX-PN® examination. Candidates should make appointments to test as soon as possible after receiving their ATTs even if they do not want to test immediately.

WARNING: Test centers may fill up quickly because of high volumes and previously scheduled special events. Waiting to call to schedule your testing appointment may significantly limit the dates the center can seat you. Additionally, if you wait until your ATT is close to expiring, Pearson Professional Centers may not be able to seat you prior to its expiration. If this occurs, you will be required to re-register and re-pay to take the examination.

You must test within the validity dates of your ATT. As stated previously, these validity dates cannot be extended for any reason.

First-time test takers must be offered an appointment within 30 days of the call to schedule an appointment, and repeat candidates must be offered an appointment within 45 days. If you wish, you may decline the appointment offered and schedule later than the 30 or 45 days.

Group Scheduling

Group scheduling (5 or more candidates) must be done through the Pearson VUE group scheduling coordinator. For further information please send a fax to the attention of Group Scheduling Coordinator at 952-681-3080.

Scheduling Procedure

Follow these procedures to schedule your NCLEX examination appointment.

1. You may take the examination at any approved Pearson Professional Center (PPC). You can find Pearson Professional Center locations and addresses on the NCLEX Candidate Web site (www.pearsonvue.com/nclex). You may schedule an appointment to take your NCLEX examination at any center. You do not have to take the examination in the same jurisdiction in which you are seeking licensure.
2. If you choose to schedule your examination at a test center outside of the United States*, you will be charged an additional non-refundable scheduling fee of $150. If applicable, a Value Added Tax (VAT) may be charged for this examination. Please be aware that once you have an appointment at a test center outside of the United States*, and you decide to re-schedule to a test center in the U.S., American Samoa, Guam, Northern Mariana Islands or the US Virgin Islands, you will not receive a refund for the $150 scheduling fee.

Please also be aware that the list of available test centers outside of the United States is subject to change without prior notice. You will be notified in the event that the test center at which you are scheduled to take your examination becomes unavailable. You may reschedule the examination at another available test center. If, under these circumstances, you choose to reschedule the examination at a test center in the United States, your $150 scheduling fee will be refunded.

3. Examination appointments at test centers in the U.S., American Samoa, Guam, Northern Mariana Islands or the U.S. Virgin Islands can be scheduled through the NCLEX Candidate Web site or by calling NCLEX Candidate Services at one of the telephone numbers listed on the inside front cover of this Candidate Bulletin. You can only schedule an appointment for test centers outside of the United States* by telephone through the NCLEX Candidate Services. Walk-ins will not be accepted at test centers outside of the United States.

You cannot schedule your examination appointment until you receive the ATT. Have your ATT available when you schedule.

4. If you are using the NCLEX Candidate Web site to schedule, you will be asked to supply your user ID and password, which you will receive with your Acknowledgement of Receipt of NCLEX® Examination Registration. You also will be asked your preference for date and time of testing at the Pearson Professional Center of your choice.
5. If you schedule via the telephone, you will be asked to supply your name and your ATT number, along with other information to verify your identity. You also will be asked your preference for date and time of testing at the Pearson Professional Center of your choice.
6. If your first-choice date or time is unavailable, you will be offered an alternative as close to your first choice as possible.
7. On the bottom of your ATT, make a note of when and at which Pearson Professional Center you have been scheduled for the examination. Be sure to ask for directions if you need them.
8. A confirmation of your appointment will be sent to you from Pearson VUE. Verify that all the information is correct. Call or go online to check that your appointment has been scheduled or re-scheduled if you do not receive a confirmation. Contact NCLEX Candidate Services immediately to correct any errors to your appointment.

Candidates Seeking Examination Accommodations

Testing accommodations for otherwise qualified candidates will only be provided with the authorization from your board of nursing.

Do not schedule an appointment to take the NCLEX examination until you have received written confirmation of your accommodations and your ATT indicating "Accommodations Granted."

Candidates approved for testing with special accommodations must schedule their testing appointment through the NCLEX Accommodations Coordinator by calling NCLEX Candidate Services at one of the telephone numbers listed on the inside front cover of this Candidate Bulletin and asking for the NCLEX Accommodations Coordinator.

Candidates with accommodations may not test as walk-ins.

Please note: Candidates who seek to test with accommodations cannot schedule their appointments through the NCLEX Candidate Web site.

* United States includes American Samoa, Guam, Northern Mariana Islands, and the U.S. Virgin Islands.

Procedure for Changing Your NCLEX® Examination Appointment

If you need to change your appointment date, time or location, you may go to the NCLEX Candidate Web site (www.pearsonvue.com/nclex) or call NCLEX Candidate Services one full business day (24 hours) as described below:

For examinations scheduled on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday call at least 24 hours prior to the day and time of your appointment.

For examinations scheduled on Saturday, Sunday, or Monday, call no later than Friday at least 24 hours in advance of your appointment time.

Candidates with appointments at test centers outside of the United States* must call NCLEX Candidate Services to change their appointment. Candidates who have appointments at a test center outside the U.S. may re-schedule to another test center outside the U.S. without forfeiting their $150 scheduling fee. If you choose to re-schedule your examination to a test center within the United States*, you will forfeit your $150 fee.

If you have an appointment at one of the test centers in the United States* and choose to re-schedule to a test center outside the U.S., you will be charged a non-refundable $150 scheduling fee and any applicable Value Added Tax (VAT).

If you are a candidate receiving special accommodations, ask for the NCLEX Accommodations Coordinator in order to change your appointment.

If you fail to arrive for your examination appointment or fail to re-schedule/unschedule without giving the appropriate notice (as outlined on this page), you will forfeit your examination fee (and scheduling fee if applicable) and your ATT will be invalidated. You will be required to re-register and re-pay the examination fee of $200. Your failure to take the examination will be reported to the board of nursing where you have applied for licensure.

NOTE: Leaving a message on an answering machine does not constitute giving the required notice for re-scheduling or unscheduling your testing appointment. You must either re-schedule or unschedule your appointment on the NCLEX Candidate Web site or by speaking with an agent at NCLEX Candidate Services.

No Refunds

There will be no refund of the $200 examination fee for any reason. This policy also applies to the scheduling fee of $150 and VAT (if applicable). See page 3 for details.

Personal Identification

Because of the importance of the NCLEX® examination, several security measures will be enforced during the administration of the examination. Strict candidate identification requirements have been established.

Your Name

The printed name on your identification must match exactly the printed name on your ATT. If your name with which you have registered is different from the name on your identification, you must bring legal name change documentation with you to the test center on the day of your test. The only acceptable forms of legal documentation are: marriage licenses, divorce decrees and/or court action legal name change documents. All documents must be in English and must be original documents. Candidates wishing to make a legal name change, address change or e-mail address change must contact their board of nursing. This cannot be done at the test center.

Identification Requirements

When you arrive at the test center, you will be required to present one form of acceptable identification from the list below. You will also be required to present your valid ATT. You will not be admitted to the examination without acceptable identification and your ATT; if either of these requirements is not met, you will be turned away; if you arrive without these materials, you will be required to re-register and re-pay the examination fee of $200. If you paid the scheduling fee of $150, that will be forfeited as well.

Acceptable Identification

The only acceptable forms of identification in test centers in the United States* are:

- U.S. driver's license (if expired, a renewal slip must be presented in order to be admitted) (Department of Motor Vehicle-issued)
- U.S. state identification (Department of Motor Vehicle-issued)
- passport
- U.S. Military Identification

The only identification acceptable in test centers outside of the United States* is:

- passport

Candidates with identification from a country on the U.S. government's embargoed countries list will not be admitted to test.

All identification must be valid and not expired with signature and photograph. All identification must be in English and signed in English.

Driver's or learner's permits are not acceptable as identification for admittance to the NCLEX examination. Only the identifications listed above will be accepted.

* United States includes American Samoa, Guam, Northern Mariana Islands, and the US Virgin Islands.

Additional Precautions

Additional security measures that will be taken at the test centers include:

- ❑ A digital fingerprint, signature and photograph will be taken at the test center and will accompany your examination result. Your fingerprint, signature and photograph may be used to confirm your identity by the board of nursing to which you have applied for licensure. You cannot be tested without having your fingerprint, signature and photograph taken.
- ❑ You will be observed at all times while taking the examination. This process will include direct observation by test center staff as well as video and audio recording of your examination session.

Examination Security and Candidate Rules

Test Center Regulations

To ensure that all candidates' NCLEX® examination results are earned under comparable conditions and represent fair and accurate measurement, it is necessary to maintain a standardized testing environment. The following regulations are designed to help ensure such an environment.

All candidates must adhere to these regulations:

- ❑ No study aids (textbooks, notebooks, classroom notes, etc.) are allowed anywhere in Pearson Professional Centers.
- ❑ No papers, books, food, pens, purses, wallets, watches, beepers, cell/mobile phones or any other electronic devices are allowed in the testing room.
- ❑ No cameras, photographic equipment or devices, or weapons (i.e. guns, knives, swords, daggers, etc.) are allowed in the test center.
- ❑ No hats, scarves or coats may be worn in the testing room. Religious apparel worn as part of the doctrinal or traditional observance of the religious faith practiced by the candidate may be allowed in the testing room.
- ❑ Eating, drinking or use of tobacco is not allowed in the testing center.
- ❑ Scratch paper may not be brought into the testing room.
- ❑ Note boards and markers will be provided by the test center staff. Note boards may not be removed from the test center.
- ❑ Candidates may not leave the testing room without the test administrator's permission.
- ❑ Candidates must provide a fingerprint each time they enter and exit the testing room.
- ❑ Candidates may not leave the Pearson Professional Center building during break times.
- ❑ Candidates may not access any study aids or seek assistance of any third party in answering items (in person, by phone or e-mail) after the start of the exam.

Grounds for Dismissal or Cancellation of Results

An examinee who violates the test center regulations or rules, or engages in irregular behavior, misconduct and/or does not follow the administrator's warning to discontinue inappropriate behavior may be dismissed from the test center and your exam fee will not be refunded. Additionally, your exam result may be withheld or cancelled and your licensing board may take other disciplinary action such as denial of a license and/or disqualifying you from future registrations for licensure. Behaviors that are considered to constitute irregular behavior or misconduct include but are not limited to:

- ❑ Giving or receiving assistance of any kind.
- ❑ Using any prohibited aids. Prohibited aids are any devices or materials that will be helpful in taking the NCLEX examination. Examples of aids that are prohibited are electronic devices (i.e. cell/mobile phones, PDAs, hand held computers, etc.), handheld calculators, conversion tables, dictionaries, etc.
- ❑ Attempting to take the examination for someone else.
- ❑ Bringing any NCLEX examination study aids (textbooks, notebooks, classroom notes, etc.) to the testing center or accessing or attempting to access such study materials at any time after the start of the examination administration, including, but not limited to, break times.
- ❑ Failing to follow testing regulations or the instructions of the test administrator.
- ❑ Creating a disturbance of any kind.
- ❑ Copying, reconstructing or removing examination items and/or responses (in any format) or notes about the examination from the testing room or attempting to do the same.
- ❑ Tampering with the operation of the computer or attempting to use it for any function other than taking the examination.

Confidentiality

Candidates should be aware and understand that the disclosure of any examination materials including the nature or content of examination items, before, during, or after the examination is a violation of law. Violations of confidentiality and/or candidates' rules can result in criminal prosecution or civil liability and/or disciplinary actions by the licensing agency including the denial of licensure.

If you are aware of, or have observed an attempt to compromise the NCLEX examination process, please report it to the NCLEX Test Security group.

Candidates may report any suspicious behavior in the following ways:

- ❑ Call Pearson VUE at 1.866.496.2539
- ❑ E-mail Pearson VUE at pvtestsecurity@pearsonvue.com or go to www.pearsonvue.com/contact/security/ and complete the form.

The Day of the Examination

The staff members at each Pearson Professional Center follow designated procedures to ensure that the operation of the test center meets NCSBN criteria for standardized testing.

The following are procedures that will be followed when you arrive at the Pearson Professional Center for your NCLEX® examination appointment.

1. Plan to arrive at the Pearson Professional Center at least 30 minutes before your scheduled testing time. If you arrive more than 30 minutes after your scheduled appointment, you may be required to forfeit your NCLEX examination appointment.

If you forfeit your examination appointment you will be required to re-register and re-pay the examination fee. Your failure to take the examination will be reported to the board of nursing where you have applied for licensure.

2. Friends, relatives or children who accompany you to the test center will not be permitted to wait in the test center or contact you while you are taking the examination.
3. You will be required to present your ATT and a valid acceptable ID with your photo and signature in English.
4. You will be asked to provide your signature, and you will have your fingerprint and photograph taken. Hats, scarves and coats may not be worn in the testing room or while your photograph is being taken.
5. You will be required to leave your personal belongings outside the testing room. Secure storage will be provided. Storage space is small, so candidates should plan appropriately. Pearson Professional Centers assume no responsibility for candidates' personal belongings.

Do not take textbooks or notebooks containing NCLEX examination study materials to the test center as such items are considered prohibited testing aids; doing so may result in dismissal or cancellation of your testing results.

6. The test administrator (TA) will provide you with an erasable note board that may be replaced as needed during testing. You may not take your own note boards, scratch paper or writing instruments to the examination, nor may you remove the note board from the testing room at any time. Turn in your note board to the TA after you complete testing.
7. You will have up to six hours to complete the NCLEX-RN® Examination, and five hours to complete the NCLEX-PN® Examination; total examination time includes a short tutorial, two preprogrammed optional breaks and any unscheduled breaks you may take. The first optional break is offered after two hours of testing. The second optional break is offered after three and one-half hours of testing. The computer will automatically tell you when these scheduled breaks begin.

All breaks count against testing time.

When you take a break, you must leave the testing room, and you will be required to provide a fingerprint before and after your break.

8. The TA will give you a short orientation and then will escort you to a computer terminal. You must remain in your seat during the examination, except when authorized to leave by test center staff. You may not change your computer terminal unless a TA directs you to do so.

NOTE: On rare occasions, technical problems may require re-scheduling of a candidate's examination. If circumstances arise causing you to wait more than 30 minutes after your scheduled appointment time, or a restart delay lasts longer than 30 minutes, you will be given the choice of continuing to wait or re-scheduling your appointment without an additional fee.

- If you choose to wait, you may later change your mind at any time prior to beginning or restarting the examination.
- If you choose not to re-schedule, but rather test after a delay, you will have no further recourse and your testing results will be considered valid.
- If you choose to re-schedule your appointment or the problem causing the delay cannot be resolved, you will be allowed to test at a later date, at no additional charge.

Every attempt will be made to contact candidates if technical problems are identified prior to a scheduled appointment.

9. Raise your hand to notify the TA if you:
 - Believe you have a problem with your computer.
 - Need to change note boards.
 - Need to take a break.
 - Need the administrator for any reason.
10. After your examination is finished, you will be asked to complete a brief computer-delivered questionnaire about your testing experience.
11. When you have finished the questionnaire, raise your hand to summon the TA. The TA will collect and inventory all note boards. The TA will dismiss you when all requirements are fulfilled.
12. If you believe there was an irregularity in the administration of your test or the associated test conditions that you believe adversely affected the outcome of your examination, you should notify the proctor or TA before you leave the test center.
13. You may ask the TA for a Confidential Comment Sheet for any narrative information about your testing session you want to provide to NCSBN, the Pearson Professional Centers or NCLEX Candidate Services.

NOTE: Pearson Professional Centers administer many types of examinations including some that require essay-type responses. Pearson Professional Centers have no control over noises made by candidates typing during another examination. Typing noise is considered a normal part of the computerized testing environment, just as the noise of turning pages is a normal part of the paper-and-pencil testing environment. Earplugs are available upon request.

Questions About Your Testing Session

If you have questions about your testing session, please contact NCSBN within two weeks of your testing appointment.

Test Security Issues

NCSBN strives to report results that accurately reflect the ability of each test taker. Accordingly, our standards and procedures for administering tests have two related goals: giving test-takers comparable opportunities to demonstrate their abilities and preventing any test-takers from gaining an unfair advantage over others. To promote these objectives, NCSBN reserves the right to cancel or withhold any test results when, in its judgment, a testing irregularity occurs; there is an apparent discrepancy in, or falsification of, a test-taker's identification; a test-taker engages in misconduct, irregular behavior, violates the candidate rules or otherwise breaches his/her Confidentiality Agreement; or the results are believed to be invalid for any other reason, notwithstanding the absence of any evidence of a candidate's personal involvement in irregular activities.

Invalid Results

NCSBN may cancel or withhold a candidate's results if, in NCSBN's judgment, there is a good faith basis to question the validity of the results for any reason, notwithstanding the absence of any evidence of a candidate's personal involvement in irregular activities. Evidence of invalid results may include, but are not limited to unusual answer patterns or unusual score increases from one exam to another. If a candidate's result is cancelled, revoked or invalidated without a finding that the candidate engaged in irregular behavior, the candidate may appeal the decision and/or will be offered a free retest. An appeal is the candidate's exclusive means of redress with regard to NCSBN's decision to take this action.

Results Reporting

For quality control purposes, every computerized NCLEX examination is scored twice; once by the computer at the test center and then the result is verified after the examination record has been transmitted to Pearson VUE.

Although the examination is scored as the candidate completes each item, NO RESULTS are released at the test center. In fact, test center staff do not have access to the examination results. Examination results are available ONLY from the boards of nursing and will be mailed to candidates approximately one month after taking the examination. DO NOT CALL your board of nursing, NCLEX Candidate Services, the Pearson Professional Centers or NCSBN for examination results. You can also get your "unofficial" results within two business days through our quick results service available on the NCLEX Candidate Web site or by calling 1-900-776-2539. Note: Quick results are not available in all states and there is a fee for this service.

Candidate Performance Report

When a candidate fails, the board of nursing sends the candidate a Candidate Performance Report (CPR). This report identifies the performance as failing, provides the number of items administered to the candidate, and a summary of the candidate's relative strengths and weaknesses based on the test plan. It is hoped that failing candidates can use this information to help guide their study before retaking the examination.

Retake Policy

Candidates must wait a minimum of 45 or 90 days between each examination. The policy of determining the minimum frequency within which a candidate may retake the examination is established by each individual board of nursing and NCSBN.

Additional Information About the NCLEX® Examination

Examination Length

Both the NCLEX-RN® and the NCLEX-PN® are variable length adaptive tests. The NCLEX® examinations are not offered in paper-and-pencil or oral examination formats. An NCLEX-RN examination can be anywhere from 75 to 265 items. Of these items, 15 are pretest items that are not scored. Regardless of the number of items administered, the time limit for this examination is six hours. An NCLEX-PN examination can be anywhere from 85 to 205 items. Of these items, 25 are pretest items that are not scored. The time limit for this examination is five hours. It is important to note that the time allotted for the examination includes the tutorial, the sample items, all breaks (restroom, stretching, etc.) and the examination. All breaks are optional.

The length of your examination is determined by your responses to the items. Once the minimum number of items has been answered, testing will stop when the candidate's ability is determined to be either above or below the passing standard with 95 percent certainty. Depending upon the particular pattern of correct and incorrect responses, different candidates will take different numbers of items and therefore use varying amounts of time. The examination will stop when the maximum number of items has been taken or when the time limit has been reached. Remember, it is in the candidate's best interest to maintain a reasonable pace of spending only one or two minutes on each item. The candidates should select a pace that will permit them to complete the examination within the allotted time should the maximum number of items be administered.

It is important to understand that the length of your examination is not an indication of a pass or fail result.

A candidate with a relatively short examination may pass or fail just as a candidate with a long examination may pass or fail. Regardless of the length of the examination, each candidate is given an examination that conforms to the respective NCLEX test plan (RN or PN) and has ample opportunity to demonstrate his or her ability.

The Passing Standard

The NCLEX-RN and NCLEX-PN are separate examinations that reflect different scopes of practice. Accordingly, these examinations are scored on separate scales and have separate passing standards. The NCSBN Board of Directors re-evaluates these standards once every three years. The criterion that the Board uses to set the standard is the minimum level of ability required for safe and effective entry-level nursing practice.

To assist the Board of Directors in making this decision, the Board is provided with information on: (1) the results of a standard setting exercise performed by a panel of experts with the assistance of professional psychometricians; (2) the historical record of the passing standard with summaries of the candidate performance associated with those standards; (3) the results of a standard setting survey sent to educators and employers; and (4) information describing the educational readiness of high school graduates who express an interest in nursing.

Once the passing standard is set, it is imposed uniformly on every test record according to the procedures laid out in the Scoring the NCLEX Examination section on page 15. To pass an NCLEX examination, a candidate must perform above the passing standard. There is no fixed percentage of candidates that pass or fail each examination.

Similar Items

Occasionally, a candidate may receive an item that seems to be very similar to an item they received earlier in the examination. This could happen for a variety of reasons. For example, several items could be about similar symptoms, diseases, or disorders, yet address different phases of the nursing process. Alternatively, a pretest (unscored) item could be about content similar to an operational (scored) item. It is incorrect to assume that a second item, which is similar in content to a previously administered item, is administered because you answered the first item incorrectly. Always select the answer you believe to be correct for each item administered. All examinations conform to their respective test plan (NCLEX-RN or NCLEX-PN).

Reviewing Answers and Guessing

The items are presented to you one at a time on a computer screen. You can view each item as long as you like, but you cannot go back to a previous item once you have selected your answer and confirmed it by pressing the <NEXT> button. You must answer every item even if you are not sure of the right answer. The computer will not allow you to go on to the next item without answering the one on the screen. If you are unsure of the correct answer, make your best guess and move on to the next item. After you select an answer to an item, you do have a chance to think about your answer and change it as many times as you like. However, once you confirm your answer and go on to the next item, you will not be allowed to go back to any previous item in the examination.

Answering Alternate Item Types

To answer some alternate item types, you may need to perform additional tasks in order to complete an item. In multiple response items you may need to select one or more responses, but if you change your mind, you can change your selection by clicking on the answer you gave (so it will disappear) and selecting another before you move on to the next item. For exhibit items, additional information is provided by selecting the exhibit item button shown on the screen. You should click on this button to get the additional information to answer the item, but you will not be prevented from answering an item without opening an exhibit. For fill-in-the-blank calculation items you will need to perform a mathematical calculation to answer the item. An on-screen calculator is provided if you click on the 'Calculator' button. Once you have calculated your answer, type it into the box provided. The item tells you how many decimal places should be in your answer. Do not type the unit of measure in the box – it will always be provided. Drag and drop items require that you move statements from one column to another, placing them in the correct order according to the item. Again, as long as you do not move to the next screen you can reorder your responses as much as you like. Finally, on hot spot items you will click to mark an area that you want to represent your answer, but if you click on another area, the first response will disappear and your new response will be marked. When you are satisfied with your answer, you can confirm it by pressing the <NEXT> button.

NOTE: Rapid guessing can drastically lower your score. Some test preparation companies have realized that on certain pencil and paper tests, unanswered items are marked as wrong. To improve the candidate's score when they are running out of time, these companies sometimes advocate rapid guessing (perhaps without even reading the item) in the hope that the candidate will get at least a few items correct. On any adaptive test, this can be disastrous. It has the effect of giving the candidate easier items, which they also get wrong. The best advice is to: (1) maintain a reasonable pace, and (2) carefully read and consider each item before answering.

NCLEX® Test Plans

The 2007 NCLEX-RN® and the 2008 NCLEX-PN® Test Plans are documents that describe the scope and content of the examinations.

Obtaining the Detailed NCLEX® Test Plan

A candidate version of the NCLEX-RN® and NCLEX-PN® Detailed Test Plans can be downloaded at no cost by accessing the NCSBN Web site at: www.ncsbn.org

Test Content

The practice of nursing requires knowledge of the health needs of clients as well as an understanding of integrated processes fundamental to nursing practice. Client Needs are used as the framework for both RN and PN test plans. NCLEX-RN and NCLEX-PN examinations may include items written at various cognitive levels.^{1,2} The majority of items are written at the application or higher levels of cognitive ability. In general, if the age or age category of the client is not stated in an item, it can be understood that the client is an adult. The percentages of items relating to the various aspects of the test plan are presented in the tables below.

Developing the Examination

Steps in the development of the NCLEX® examination are outlined below.

1. To determine the basis for safe and effective entry-level nursing practice, NCSBN conducts a practice analysis of entry level nurses every three years. The legal scope of nursing practice and results of the practice analysis are used to develop an NCLEX test plan. Test plans, which outline the content categories and percentage of test items allocated to the categories, reflect the job-related knowledge, skills and abilities required for safe and effective entry-level job performance.

²Anderson, L.W., Krathwohl, D.R. (eds).(2001). A taxonomy for learning, teaching, and assessing. A revision of Bloom's taxonomy of educational objectives. New York: Addison Wesley Longman, Inc.

- Item writers are practicing nurses who write items that test entry-level nursing practice for the RN or PN examination.
- A second expert panel of practicing nurses then reviews the newly-written items. The second review is to ensure that each item reflects current entry-level nursing practice as well as the correct answer (one for multiple choice items, but may be more than one in multiple response items).
- All items used in an examination have been pretested and are shown to have met NCSBN statistical criteria before being used as operational (scored) items.

Definitions

For NCLEX-RN, Client = individual, family or group.

For NCLEX-PN, Client = individual, family or significant other.

Nursing Diagnosis = A classification of client needs and/or problems according to presumed natural relationships; e.g., use of North American Nursing Diagnoses Association (NANDA) Definitions and Classifications.

Prescription = Orders, interventions, remedies or treatments ordered or directed by an authorized health care provider.

Exhibit = Denotes a client chart or medical record type of item. The item stem and response options are the standard multiple choice. Additional information available behind tabs listed on the screen. Click on a tab to review the additional information.

Client Needs Categories Covered on the NCLEX® Examinations

Four major “Client Needs” categories organize the content of the 2007 NCLEX-RN® and the 2008 NCLEX-PN® Test Plans. In the 2007 NCLEX-RN® and the 2008 NCLEX-PN® Test Plans, two of the categories are divided into a total of six subcategories. “Health Promotion and Maintenance” and “Psychosocial Integrity” do not have subcategories. The following processes are integrated into all “Client Needs” categories of the 2007 NCLEX-RN® Test Plan: Caring, Communication and Documentation, Nursing Process, and Teaching and Learning. For the 2008 NCLEX-PN® Test Plan, the integrated processes are: Clinical Problem Solving Process (Nursing Process), Caring, Communication and Documentation, and Teaching and Learning.

Scoring the NCLEX® Examination

Computerized Adaptive Testing (CAT)

The NCLEX® examination is different than a traditional “pencil-and-paper” examination. Typically, pencil-and-paper examinations administer the same items to every candidate, thus ensuring that the difficulty of the examination is the same across the board. Because the difficulty of the examination is constant, the percentage correct is the indicator of the candidate’s ability. One disadvantage of this approach is that it is inefficient. It requires the high ability candidates to answer all the easy items on the examination. Obviously, asking high ability candidates easy items provides very little information about their ability. Another disadvantage is that guessing can artificially inflate the scores of low ability candidates. This happens because low ability candidates will be given some difficult items. In the case of multiple-choice items, candidates can answer these items correctly 25 percent of the time for reasons that have nothing to do with their ability (there are only four choices). Instead, the NCLEX examination uses Computerized Adaptive Testing (CAT) to administer the items. CAT is able to produce test results that are more stable using fewer items by targeting items to the candidate’s ability. Although everyone’s first item is relatively easy, subsequent items are better targeted. This is accomplished by re-estimating the candidate’s ability every time an item is answered. Using the candidate’s most current ability estimate, the computer searches the item bank for an item that has a degree of difficulty that is approximately equal to that ability estimate. As a result, the candidate should have a 50-50 chance of answering this item correctly. After the candidate answers this item, the computer re-estimates the candidate’s ability and selects the next item using the same procedures.

This process continues until it is clear (with 95 percent certainty) that the candidate’s ability is above or below the passing standard. Be aware that both passers and failers tend to answer approximately 50 percent of the items correctly. This is because the computer presents all candidates with items that are matched to their ability.

The candidate’s ability estimate is based upon both the percentage of items answered correctly (approximately 50 percent in most cases) and the difficulty of the items that were administered. Imagine the items lined up, from easiest to most difficult. If we asked candidates the easiest items, they would answer most of them correctly. If we asked them the most difficult items, they would probably answer most of them incorrectly. Somewhere between those two extremes is a point at which the candidate goes from getting more answers right than wrong. This is the point at which each candidate answers 50 percent correctly. Items harder than that would probably be answered incorrectly; items easier than that would probably be answered correctly. CAT procedures permit that point to be found for each candidate without having to ask all the items in the extremes.

Pretest Items

Of course for CAT to work, the difficulty of each item must be known in advance. The degree of difficulty is determined by administering the items as pretest items to a large sample of NCLEX candidates. Because the difficulty of these pretest items is not known in advance, these items are not included when estimating the candidate’s ability or making pass-fail decisions. When enough responses are collected, the pretest items are statistically analyzed and calibrated. If the pretest items meet the NCLEX statistical standards, they can be administered in future examinations as scored items. There are 15 pretest items on every NCLEX-RN® examination and 25 on every NCLEX-PN® examination. It is impossible to distinguish operational items from pretest items, so do your best on every item.

Additional Constraints

In addition to targeting items to the candidate’s ability, the computer implements two additional constraints. First, it prevents a candidate from receiving for a second time any item that they have seen within the last year (on a previous attempt). Second, it ensures that the items administered to the candidate meet the test plan specifications with regard to the proportion of items that must be from the different test plan categories. Every test must meet the test plan specifications.

Passing and Failing

As mentioned earlier, to pass the NCLEX examination, the candidate’s performance on the examination must be above the passing standard. Ideally, NCSBN wants to be at least 95 percent certain of pass-fail decisions. Therefore, after the minimum number of items has been answered, the computer will stop when it is 95 percent certain that the candidate’s ability is above or below the passing standard. If they are above the standard, they pass; if they are below the standard, they fail. Candidates with very high or very low abilities tend to receive minimum length tests.

However, some candidates will have a true ability that is so close to the passing standard that even 1,000 items would not be enough to arrive at a decision with 95 percent confidence. It would also be impractical to administer 1,000 items. Therefore, a maximum number of items has been established (see Examination Length) for each type of examination. When candidates answer the maximum number of items, their ability estimates are rather precise, but not precise enough to make a decision with 95 percent certainty. Because the precision is quite good in these cases the 95 percent certainty requirement is waived. If their ability estimate is above the passing standard, they pass; if it is at or below the passing standard, they fail.

If the examination ends because time runs out, it means that the candidate has not demonstrated with 95 percent certainty that they are clearly above or below the passing standard, nor has the candidate answered the maximum number of items. Because the primary mission of boards of nursing is to protect the public, it can be argued that candidates should not pass when they have not demonstrated that they are competent. However, the response patterns for some of these people have indicated that there are candidates that appeared to have a “true ability” that is above passing and who have been performing consistently above the passing standard. A mechanism is provided for these candidates to pass. The key word here is “consistently.” If a candidate’s performance has been consistently above the passing standard, then he or she will pass, despite having run out of time.

Scoring Items

The majority of NCLEX examination items are multiple-choice, but there are other formats as well. All item types are scored as either right or wrong. There is no “partial credit.”

Examination Items

During the administration of the NCLEX-RN® and NCLEX-PN® examinations, candidates will be required to respond to items in a variety of formats. The majority of the items are multiple-choice, but there are other formats. All item formats may include charts, tables, or graphic images.
